Local Resident Gets County Appointment

Chairman Frank J. Lastner announced last week the appointment of Thomas C. Kelly, 51-E Ridge, as Administrative Assistant to the Board of Commissioners of Prince George's County effective January 10.

In announcing the unanimous selection of Kelly for the key post, Commissioner Lastner said "I am sure I speak for all the members of the Board when I say we are extremely pleased and most fortunate to obtain the services of a man trained in both the academic and practical sides of County Government."

Kelly is presently Executive Secretary of the Maryland County Commissioners Association and a member of the faculty of the University of Maryland. He is also a member of the Greenbelt Charter Revision Committee.

Known both in the State and the County as an expert on problems facing County government today, Kelly has taught government and economics at the U. S. Naval Academy and is presently a lecturer at the University of Maryland in the fields of public administration and American government.

Kelly, who is working on the final stages of his Doctor's degree in public administration, and his wife, Carol, have lived in Greenbelt 4 years. They have three children, Tommy, Ellen and David. Carol, a school teacher, is president of the Greenbelt Kindergarten.

Kelly served six years as an officer in the U. S. Navy. He served on the U.S.S. Bennington, the U.S.S. Ticonderoga, and as an intelligence officer on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief of the Atlantic Fleet. He is also an ex-officio member of the Advisory Commission on Environmental Hygiene of the State Department of Health.

Monday Deadline for Copy

The deadline for News Review copy for next week will be Monday, December 30. Because of the New Year's holiday, the News Review office will be open on Monday night, instead of Tuesday night. All copy should be turned in by 9:30 p.m. Monday. The paper will appear on Thursday, as usual.

Peace Corp Test Scheduled Jan. 11

The next Peace Corps Placement Test is scheduled to be given on Saturday, January 11 at 8:30 a.m. at 1900 E St., N. W., Washington. The non-competitive aptitude tests will be administered at 825 post offices and other federal buildings in major cities throughout the United States.

All applicants for Peace Corps service are required to take the Placement Test as well as submit a Peace Corps Questionnaire. Those who have not completed a Questionnaire will be asked to do so immediately after the testing. No applicant may take the test more than once without special permission from the Peace Corps.

Applicants should allow themselves about one and a half hours for the Placement Test. If they claim proficiency in Spanish or French they should plan an additional hour for the language achievement test — designed to test mastery of grammar, vocabulary and reading comprehension.

The Placement Test itself is composed of a 30-minute general aptitude test (made up of verbal, mathematical and spatial problems) and a 30-minute modern language aptitude test. The latter is designed to provide an indication of one's probable degree of success in learn-

Playground Rehabilitation Program Recommended

An 8-point program for the maintenance of large playgrounds and play areas has been recommended to the city council by the Recreation Advisory Board. About four courts were voted as needing immediate attention. The 8 points were:

1. Preparation of the grounds in the fall by quick removal of leaves, fertilizing, liming, seeding bare spots, followed by simple care in the spring to prevent erosion.

Neglect will only prove more costly to the city in the long run (the large 2 Northway - 45 Ridge playground was such an example).

2. Watering of grounds is important and could be accomplished by furnishing long hoses periodically during the summer months to cooperative families living on the park perimeters.

3. Distribute instructions on the care of grounds, with the addition of playground rules and regulations, to all families whether near specific playground areas or not.

4. Blacktopping areas where grass will not grow and where there is heavy concentration of play to relieve dust-bowl problems.

5. Confine certain activities such as volleyball, badminton, dodge ball, etc., to the blacktop to prevent grass ruin. The very popular basketball courts are a good example of this. Blacktopping for specific play will also provide substitute activities for older boys and girls who are unable to play baseball because of the danger to younger children using swings, slides, see-saws, etc.

6. Keep play equipment in good condition to prevent rust. Since paint wears off quickly, the city might want to look into the plastic-covering processes.

7. Check equipment regularly to insure highest safety standards. Periodic checks should be made to determine whether there is too little or too much play equipment to meet the needs of the youngsters in each play area. This will reduce the cost of installation of new equipment.

8. Set up additional basketball courts and sandlot baseball areas where the need exists and the space is available.

May Increase Budget

The Board realized that carrying out these recommendations may increase the present budget of the Recreation Department, but felt that these expenditures would be justified in view of the resulting future economy.

It suggested that the additional manpower needed could be obtained by adding to the Recreation staff (Municipal Parks and Playgrounds), assigning sufficient men from the Public Works Department to the Recreation Department for this purpose, or contracting out the work.

The Board recognized that the scope of work involved in the care of playgrounds and ballfields is such that it has been impossible to accomplish all that has to be done due to limited personnel now available for this work. The Board commended the Recreation and Public Works Departments for the fine work they have been able to perform under these circumstances. It also praised the Department for the hiring of teen-age boys during the summer to do clean-up work in the playgrounds.

ing to speak and to understand a foreign language. Knowledge of a foreign language is not needed to score well on this aptitude test, nor required for entrance into the Peace Corps.

Vote on Library Site

In reporting the city council's action last week on starting negotiations with Greenbelt Consumer Services (GCS) on obtaining the land north of the post office for a library site, the News Review erroneously reported that a revised motion made by Councilman Dave Champion was approved by council. Actually, his motion, which would have eliminated from a previous motion by Councilman Cliff Simonson language specifying donation of the site to the county for a library, was defeated by a 3-2 vote, with Bernstein, Hoff and Simonson outvoting Champion and Mayor Smith.

Councilman Simonson, who called the error to the attention of the News Review, stated that passage of his motion spelling out the donation of the site to the county for a library was critical in obtaining a new library for Greenbelt. "The city is now on record," he said, "that the land we hope to obtain is intended specifically and solely for the construction of a library building." This commitment is a major step toward the community obtaining a new library.

4-H Little Leaves Do Christmas Caroling

by Darla Foster, Reporter

Did you hear some Christmas Carolers Friday night, December 20? It could have been the 4-H Little Leaves.

Our 4-H group traveled in a U-Haul trailer all over Greenbelt. We caroled from about 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. A kind gentleman, Mr. Sam Franton, who works at Save-more Md. Inc., 2300 East University Blvd., Hyattsville, Md. donated the trailer.

About 8:00 p.m. we all stopped at Mr. and Mrs. George M. Beckerts house for some hot cocoa and cookies.

P.S. I think our group leader, Mrs. Paisno, was very cold by the time we finished our last carol.

GHI Protests Assessment of Units; County Agrees to Review Criteria Used

By Al Skolnik

The first of a series of discussions between Greenbelt Homes, Inc. and the County Assessor's office was reported on at last Thursday's meeting of the GHI board. GHI manager Roy Breashears stated that such discussions were needed because of the many questions raised by the reassessment of the GHI properties, which conceivably could raise the valuation by 35 percent. Other properties in town have also been subject to reassessment.

A key question raised by Breashears with the assessors was the criteria used to reassess the properties. He was told that the county assessor's office sought to assess the GHI homes as if they were owned in fee simple by individuals. Since the GHI homes are owned cooperatively, the assessor used the sales price of row homes in Kent Village to determine what the GHI homes would sell at if they were owned in fee simple.

Breashears protested that the substitution of the market price of Kent Village homes for that of GHI homes to determine the GHI assessment could not be justified. The county assessor's office agreed that further consideration would have to be given to the GHI situation.

Breashears also brought to the attention of the assessor several factual errors and presumable inconsistencies in the assessment which resulted in some frame homes being reassessed at more than brick homes and in some cases as high as homes in Lakewood.

Zubkoff Resigns

Presiding for the last time was GHI president Harry Zubkoff who resigned effective December 31, 1963. Director Ed Burgoon, speaking for the majority of the board, expressed appreciation for the services rendered by Zubkoff and for his contributions to Greenbelt's civic life. He concluded by turning to Zubkoff and stating, "You may be getting out of Greenbelt, but I feel certain that Greenbelt will never get out of you."

Director Charles Schwan moved that the News Review editorial of December 19, praising Zubkoff's GHI record as a leader, be included in the minutes. Directors Bill Helm and Joe Cherry dissented. Helm said that the editorial "told only half the story", a statement which he said he might amplify at a later date. Helm then invoked a by-law change adopted at the last membership meeting which provided that action on any new item of business may be delayed until the following meeting upon the request of two directors. Cherry joined Helm and the motion was consequently tabled until the next meeting. Directors Schwan and John O'Reilly deplored this "lack of courtesy" on the part of two board members for a departing GHI president.

Other Business

Other matters up before the GHI board were of minor import. The board tabled a motion by Helm to establish a permanent sales committee, pending a report by management on sales procedures and forms. Burgoon and Nat Shinderman expressed the view that ad hoc committees to deal with specialized topics might be more effective in this area.

The board authorized the president to approve committee expenditures up to $25 per committee, with amounts in excess to be approved by the board.

GDC Meeting

A meeting of the Greenbelt Development Corporation, a wholly-owned subsidiary of GHI operating the Parkway apartments, preceded the GHI meeting. The board agreed to continue existing rents for five tenants who did not participate in the general rent increase of 6 percent of last year because of financial straits. Helm and Cherry dissented on the grounds that the 6 percent increase should by now apply to all equally.

In accord with the general policy of having the GHI and GDC boards of similar composition, Mrs. Josephine Seay and Nat Shinderman, newly-appointed GHI board members, were elected to fill the vacancies left on the GDC board by the resignation of Hans Jorgensen and Henry Brautigam. The board now has 8 members, with the spot vacated by Zubkoff still to be filled.

The board heard a preliminary report by the land use committee, chaired by Roy Davis, on the possible use of the undeveloped GDC-owned land at the corner of Crescent rd. and Parkway. Getting preferential consideration at this time is a 3-story combined office and medical center building. The board encouraged the committee to get an appraisal of the property's potential economic value as a commercial building site from an independent professional firm.

Cherry gave a report of his committee examining the possibility of converting GDC basement space into apartments. He stated that such space could be converted for $5,000 to $6,000 per unit. The committee is now studying the problems that would be involved in moving utility lines.

Recreation Review

by Richard Stevenson
Director of Recreation

On this day after Christmas, may we at the Recreation Department again wish everyone a healthy, happy and prosperous New Year!

Last Friday evening, over 150 wide eyed children and parents were at the Youth Center as the Greenbelt Community Band presented their Annual Christmas Concert. The concert was interrupted by a happy, laughing, jolly, fat man in a red suit. Our fat friend called himself St. Nicholas, Kris Kringle and Santa Claus. Everyone enjoyed the music and the pleasant interruption.

The Men's Basketball League got off to a flying start last Thursday with the team from Maryland University jumping off to a 67-42 victory over the Greenbelt Tobacco Shop. Hank Burbridge with 23 points and Dick Phillips with 20 points led the Marylanders. Harry Castlow tried his best for the Tobacco Shop with 12 points, but received little help.

BUSHIPS waltzed over Springhill 62-20 as Hooper pushed thru 12, Van Nort got 11 and Greenbelt's own Jerry Jenkins helped with 10 points. George Burnatti, a refugee from the Boys' Club team, helped Springhill with 9 points.

There are no games tonight. Next Thursday will find the Marylanders playing Springhill and the Tobacco Shop playing the BUSHIPS. For interesting and exciting basketball, stop by the Youth Center and watch a game. The admission is free.

Greenbelt's own Frank Lastner, Chairman of the Prince Georges County Commissioners, is seen here (3rd from left) participating in a White House bill-signing ceremony. He looks on as President Johnson signs the new Clean Air Act, which encourages local governments to control air pollution. Lastner testified in favor of the bill representing the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments and the National Association of Counties.

5 GVFD MEMBERS RECEIVE AWARDS

Five members of the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad were among the 100 students throughout the Tri-State area that completed the Ambulance School course under the direction of Baltimore City Hospitals and the Baltimore Fire Department. The school was created in 1962 for the Certification of Ambulance personnel. It covers a multitude of topics ranging from lectures in the Anatomy of the Human Body to Radioactive Contamination. Laboratory sessions on closed chest cardiac compression were conducted by Dr. Jude, Professor of Surgery, Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, one of the men credited with the discovery of closed chest compression, and Dr. ...der, Director of the Ambulance School, Assistant Chief of Surgery, Baltimore City Hospital. A number of leading doctors in their special fields lectured during the course.

Mayor McKelden of Baltimore City awarded certificates to Red Cross instructors: Capt. Dave Hissey, Vic Fisher, and Joseph O'Loughlin. Others to receive these certificates from Mayor McKelden were Russ Kerr and Ernest Varda of Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad Inc.

Lastner New Head of Washington Council

Taking over as President of the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments is Prince George's County Commission Chairman Frank J. Lastner. At the Council's semiannual meeting, held in Fairfax County last week, Commissioner Lastner succeeded Maryland Congressman-at-Large, Carlton R. Sickles, in the President's Chair. Mr. Lastner promised the Council, which is composed of elected officials from the entire Greater Washington area, that he would work to continue their objectives of "voluntary cooperation on area-wide problems," but added, "so long as I am in this chair I will fight continually to keep our cooperation voluntary and will do all I can to block any form of metro government."

GENEROUS COLLECTION

To the Editor:

Many thanks to all Greenbelters who contributed so generously in the recent collection of goods for the needy in Mississippi. Clothes, toys and cans of food were donated.

Dr. Melvin Active In Adult Education

A resident of Prince George's County not "sitting down" in his "retirement years" is Dr. Bruce Melvin, 33-V Ridge, who has come forward with a concise plan for the intelligent use of the older citizens of the County still able and willing to give of their time, wisdom, intelligence and background for an educational program in conjunction with that already offered by Bowie State College.

The proposal is unique in that it will offer courses to meet all adult interests as well as provide experts in community organization to help the aged and aging to meet the many problems of our present society. Dr. Melvin, who belies his years with alert blue eyes, a keen wit and active mind, and a former Professor Emeritus of Sociology, says, "I didn't know I was old until the University of Maryland retired me two years ago just because I reached 70."

The "continuing educational program" as proposed by Dr. Melvin would include a series of public lectures to be held monthly on a variety of topics. These would be coordinated with regularly established classroom instruction which would be provided during the day and evenings.

Tentative plans have been made for a discussion and reading course for persons nearing retirement, those who have already retired, and for younger persons who are interested in achieving their full potential when they come to older years.

Another of the immediate considerations of the Institute for Bowie College is the scarcity of trained teaching personnel who can be hired by the state and the fact that there are many retired personnel whose health is such that they can contribute much in an educational way by part-time employment. The plan would utilize these retired professors and qualified teachers on the staff.

New Co-op Paper Planned in Calif.

The following item appeared in the December 12 issue of the Co-operative Builder, Superior, Wisconsin. It may be of interest to our colleagues in the co-operative newspaper world, that the Greenbelt News Review, founded in 1937, is generally believed to be the first cooperatively-owned general circulation newspaper in the United States.

BERKELEY, CALIF. (CNS) — A weekly newspaper of general community circulation and news coverage owned cooperatively by its readers is projected to hit the streets here sometime in 1964.

Its 200 organizers believe it to be the first cooperatively-owned general circulation newspaper in the United States. It will publish local news, plus state and regional developments with a local angle.

A small, paid, professional staff will be augmented by volunteer writers, many commenting on current questions.

Berkeley Newspaper Cooperative was organized last January and incorporated in September. It plans a membership meeting this winter at which permanent officers will be elected. The co-op has temporary offices and is seeking donations of office equipment.

Interim officers of Berkeley Newspaper Cooperative include an investment manager, a professor of biochemistry at the University of California, a statistician who formerly published his own newspaper, a poet and novelist, and a University of California Press editor.

GI INSURANCE DIVIDENDS

In response to President Johnson's directive for the earliest possible payment of the $234-million GI insurance dividend for 1964, the VA today said the first checks would reach veterans by January 2. In reporting this, C. W. Henry, Manager of the Veterans Benefits Office, 21st and Constitution Ave., N.W., Washington, D. C., said payments to all of the 4,725,000 veterans participating in the dividend would be completed in record time — by January 25.

The President, on December 8, ordered the accelerated payments as a stimulant to the economy.

School Board to Form Parent Study Groups

The Board of Education has announced its interest in the formation of Parent Discussion Groups which can hold meetings at nearby schools or private homes once every two weeks or so from October through May of this year. Leaders are now being sought to direct these groups.

Parent Discussion groups will encourage meetings between parents who may find that they have the same or similar questions to be answered. Typical of these questions that parents ask themselves are "Why do I have to say the same thing 60 times?" and "Will she ever learn to be neat and tidy?" The group will help find some answers to these questions.

In sessions of informal study and discussion, parents will discuss way in which children will grow and develop, and the many reasons they behave the way they do because of the way they grow physically and emotionally. They will consider what their youngsters learn from other children, what they learn from the adult world and what they think and feel about themselves. It is hoped that as a result of this study and discussion, a better understanding of children and their ways will be gained.

A Leader's Training Program, sponsored by the County Board of Education is being planned now. Staff members from the Institute of Child Study at the University of Maryland, the Mental Health Study Center at Adelphi Plaza, and the County Health Department assist in planning and conducting these sessions.

Fred S. Cardano, principal of Greenbelt Center Elementary School, would like to hear from parents who might be interested in participating in the Leadership Training Program so that they may be able to assist in the organization and management of Parent Discussion Groups. Interested parents may contact Principal Cardano at the Center School or by calling GR 4-4596.

Note To Self-Employed

Self-employed persons were reminded today that U. S. Retirement Plan Bonds, offered under the Self-Employed Individual Tax Retirement Act of 1962, must be purchased by December 31 to qualify owners for 1963 tax deferral benefits.

The reminder came from Ormond R. Galvin, State Savings Bond Director, who suggested that eligible persons contact their banks for information about establishing retirement programs for themselves and their employees through a bond purchase plan. IRS Form 3873, which may be used to establish such a plan, is available at the District Office of the Internal Revenue Service.

Most banks can furnish application forms for use in purchasing Retirement Plan Bonds. However, the bonds are issued only by Federal Reserve Banks and the Treasurer of the United States.

A plan for the purchase of Retirement Plan Bonds is only one of several means open to the self-employed to qualify for benefits under the Act. To realize an income tax deduction during this calendar year, the retirement plans must be set up and contributions made on or before December 31. Self-employed persons are permitted to claim as a tax deduction a portion of such contributions made for their own benefit, as well as all of the funds contributed for their employees.

Mr. Galvin said that Retirement Plan Bonds, which have been on sale since January, are available at par in denominations of $50, $100, $500, and $1,000. They pay interest at a rate of 3 1/2 percent, compounded semi-annually, the interest accruing through increases in redemption value at the end of each six-month period.

The Retirement Plan Bonds differ from Savings Bonds in that they may not be redeemed until the owner attains the age of 59 1/2 years, except in the event of death or disability. Those persons over the age of 59 1/2 years when they acquire their bonds may redeem them at any time.
